Popular coated stock now features 30% post-consumer content for high quality with reduced environmental impact.

COVINGTON, KY, [January 21, 2010]—The Domtar Distribution Group, North America's premier source for high-quality paper, packaging and graphic arts supplies, today announced the availability of Burgo Chorus Art coated sheets now featuring 30% post-consumer waste. Total recycled content is 55%.

This exceptionally high post-consumer recycled content makes Burgo Chorus Art ideal for sheet-fed and digital printing applications requiring both superb quality and environmental responsibility. Chorus Art has long been recognized as a leading coated paper choice for those seeking an environmentally friendly, "green" alternative from a respected, FSC-certified source.

Available in both Gloss and Silk finish, Burgo Chorus Art is triple-coated with 90 brightness, exceptional surface smoothness, and enhanced bulk, rigidity, and opacity. It is elemental chlorine-free (ECF).

An ideal cross-platform performer, Burgo Chorus Art offers excellent print quality and runability on both sheet-fed and digital printing platforms. It delivers optimal performance with dry and liquid toners, black-and-white and laser printers, and digital offset technologies. It has been certified for use on the HP Indigo and Kodak NEXPRESS, and is recommended for use with Xerox iGen presses.

As the exclusive distributor of Burgo Chorus Art in the U.S., RIS offers the full line of weights, finishes and sizes in both sheet-fed and digital:

- Sheet-fed: 60#, 70#, 80#, 100# text with 63#, 80#, 100#, 130# cover weights
- Digital: 70#, 80#, 100# text with 80#, 100#, 130# matching digital cover

The Domtar Distribution Group can also provide custom sizes to meet specific needs.

"The availability of Burgo Chorus Art with higher post-consumer content is just the latest example of how we are leading the way in providing environmentally sound products that meet our customers' need to reduce their impact without compromising quality or affordability," said Mark Shaneyfelt, Director of Business Papers, Domtar Distribution Group.
